Valuation Approaches, Methods & Basis

A. Valuation Approaches & Methods

As per paragraph 8 of the Indian Valuation Standard 103 - Valuation Approaches and Methods, of Indian Valuation Standards 2018 issued by The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, there are three main valuation approaches:

- 1. Market approach;
- 2. Income approach; and
- 3. Cost approach.

1. Market approach

Market approach is a valuation approach that uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable (i.e., similar) assets, liabilities or a group of assets and liabilities, such as a business.

The following valuation methods are commonly used under the market approach:

- a) Market Price Method;
- b) Comparable Companies Multiple (CCM) Method; and
- c) Comparable Transaction Multiple (CTM) Method;

a) Market Price Method

Under this method a valuer shall consider the traded price observed over a reasonable period while valuing assets which are traded in the active market. A valuer shall also consider the market where the trading volume of asset is the highest when such asset is traded in more than one active market. A valuer shall also consider the market where the trading volume of asset is the highest when such asset is traded in more than one active market.

b) Comparable Companies Multiple (CCM) Method

Comparable Companies Multiple Method, also known as Guideline Public Company Method, involves valuing an asset based on market multiples derived from prices of market comparables traded on active market.

c) Comparable Transaction Multiple (CTM) Method

Comparable Transaction Multiple Method. also known as 'fluideline Transaction Method' involves valuing an asset based on transaction multiples derived from prices paid in transactions of asset to be valued/market comparables (comparable transactions).

2. Income Approach

Income approach is a valuation approach that converts maintainable or future amounts (e.g., cash flows or income and expenses) to a single current (i.e., discounted or capitalised) amount. The fair value measurement is determined on the basis of the value indicated by current market expectations about those future amounts.

This approach involves discounting future amounts (cash flows/income/cost savings) to a single present value.

Some of the common valuation methods of equity share valuation under income approach are as follows:

- a) Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) Method:
- b) Relief from Royalty (RFR) Method;
- c) Multi-Period Excess Earnings Method (MEEM);
- d) With and Without Method (WWM)

a) Discounted Cash Flow (DCF') Method

The DCF method values the asset by discounting the cash flows expected to be generated by the asset for the explicit forecast period and also the perpetuity value (or terminal value) in case of assets with indefinite life.

The DCF method is one of the most common methods for valuing various assets such as shares, businesses, real estate projects, debt instruments, etc.

b) Relief from Royalty (RFR) Method

RFR Method is a method in which the value of the asset is estimated based on the present value of royalty payments saved by owning the asset instead of taking it on lease. It is generally adopted for valuing intangible assets that are subject to licensing, such as trademarks, patents, brands, etc.

c) Multi-Period Excess Earnings Method (MEEM)

MEEM is generally used for valuing intangible asset that is leading or the most significant intangible asset out of group of intangible assets being valued.

d) With and Without Method (WWM)

Under WWM, the value of the intangible asset to be valued is equal to the present value of the difference between the projected cash flows over the remaining useful life of the asset under the following two scenarios:

- i. business with all assets in place including the intangible asset to be valued; and
- ii. business with all assets in place except the intangible asset to be valued.

3. Cost Approach

Cost approach is a valuation approach that reflects the amount that would be required currently to replace the service capacity of an asset (often referred to as current replacement cost).

Two most commonly used valuation methods under the Cost approach:

- a) Replacement Cost Method; and
- b) Reproduction Cost Method.

a) Replacement Cost Method

Replacement Cost Method, also known as 'Depreciated Replacement Cost Method' involves valuing an asset based on the cost that a market participant shall have to incur to recreate an asset with substantially the same utility (comparable utility) as that of the asset to be valued, adjusted for obsolescence.

b) Reproduction Cost Method

Reproduction Cost Method involves valuing an asset based on the cost that a market participant shall have to incur to recreate a replica of the asset to be valued, adjusted for obsolescence.

B. Valuation Basis

As per paragraph 14 of the Indian Valuation Standard 102 - Valuation Bases, of Indian Valuation Standards 2018 issued by The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, Valuation base means the indication of the type of value being used in an engagement. Different valuation bases may lead to different conclusions of value. Therefore, it is important for the valuer to identify the bases of value pertinent to the engagement. This Standard defines the following valuation bases:

- a) Fair value;
- b) Participant specific value; and
- c) Liquidation value

a) Fair Value

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the valuation date. Fair value is the price in an orderly transaction in the principal (or most advantageous) market at the valuation date under current market conditions (i.e. an exit price) regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using another valuation technique.

b) Participant Specific Value

Participant specific value is the estimated value of an asset or liability considering specific advantages or disadvantages of either of the owner or identified acquirer or identified participants.

c) Liquidation Value

Liquidation value is the amount that will be realised on sale of an asset or a group of assets when an actual/hypothetical termination of the business is contemplated/assumed.

Liquidation value can be carried out under the premise of an orderly transaction with a typical marketing period or under the premise of forced transaction with a shortened marketing period. The valuer must disclose whether an orderly or forced transaction is assumed. The net amount is determined after considering estimated cost of disposal.

C. Premise of Value

As per paragraph 37 of the Indian Valuation Standard 102 - Valuation Bases, of Indian Valuation Standards 2018 issued by The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, Premise of Value refers to the conditions and circumstances how an asset is deployed. In a given set of circumstances, a single premise of value may be adopted while in some situations multiple premises of value may be adopted. Some common premises of value are as follows:

- a) highest and best use;
- b) going concern value;
- c) as is where is value;
- d) orderly liquidation; or
- e) forced transaction.

a) Highest and Best Use

The highest and best use of a non-financial asset takes into account the use of the asset that is physically possible, legally permissible and financially feasible.

b) Going Concern Value

Going concern value is the value of a business enterprise that is expected to continue to operate in the future.

c) As-is-where-is Basis

As-is-where-is basis will consider the existing use of the asset which may or may not be its highest and best use.

d) Orderly Liquidation

An orderly liquidation refers to the realisable value of an asset in the event of a liquidation after allowing appropriate marketing efforts and a reasonable period of time to market the asset on an as-is, where-is basis.

e) Forced transaction

Forced transaction is a transaction where a seller is under constraints to sell an asset without appropriate marketing period or effort to market such asset.

The approach, method, base and premise of value is selected after considering the terms and purpose of the valuation engagement.

D. Discount for Lack of Marketability (DLOM)

DLOM is based on the premise that an asset which is readily marketable (such as frequently traded securities) commands a higher value than an asset which requires longer marketing period to be sold (such as securities of an unlisted entity) or an asset having restriction on its ability to sell (such as securities under lock-in-period or regulatory restrictions).

Determining an appropriate level of DLOM can be a complex and subjective process. Accordingly, the specific nature and characteristics of the asset and the facts and circumstances surrounding the valuation should be considered.

E. Control Premium and Discount for Lack of Control (DLOC)

Control Premium generally represents the amount paid by acquirer for the benefits it would derive by controlling the acquiree's assets and cash flows.

Control Premium is an amount that a buyer is willing to pay over the current market price of a publicly-traded company to acquire a controlling interest in an asset. It is opposite of discount for lack of control to be applied in case of valuation of a non-controlling/minority interest.

Valuation Methodology

Income Approach:

The Discounted Cash Flow (DFCF) method works on the premise that the value of a business is measured in terms of future cash flow streams, discounted to the present time at an appropriate discount rate. In the instant case, the objective is to derive the Fair Market Value of the Equity Shares/Warrants converted into equity shares of the Company as on the Valuation date. We have not applied this methodology for this purpose as this method is based on future business plans of the company. However, the Company being a listed company has not disclosed concrete long terms financial projections, hence we did not apply this method.

Asset Approach:

The Asset based method views the business as a set of assets and liabilities that are used as building blocks of a business value. The difference in the value of these assets and liabilities on a Book Value basis or Replacement Cost basis is the business value. However, this methodology recognizes historical cost of net assets only without recognizing its present earnings, comparative financial performance of its peers and their enterprise values etc. Therefore, in general Net Asset Value only reflects the minimum proxy value of the company. In the instant case, the subject company is intended to be continued on a 'going concern basis', therefore, we have not applied it as value derived by using asset approach may not be representative of its fair market value.

Market Approach:

Speciality Restaurants Limited is listed on the National Stock Exchange of India Limited and Bombay Stock Exchange Limited where price of such shares is determined by the market forces i.e. the demand & supply of the shares among the buyers and Sellers. Stock Exchange is one of the most efficient platform where the price of the shares is determined by market forces and not by assumptions as required in Income approach, therefore we have used Comparable Companies method and Market Price method in accordance with the regulations of SEBI (ICDR) Regulations for valuation of equity share of Speciality Restaurants Limited.

a) Comparable Companies Multiple (CCM) Method

There are listed Comparable Companies who are operating in the similar line of the business to the Company's Business. Hence CCM Method has been considered. A key benefit of Comparable Companies Multiples method is that this methodology is based on the current market price of peer companies which is generally viewed as one of the best valuation metrics as an observable input. However, there is the difficulty in the selection of a comparable company since its rare to find two or more companies with the same product portfolio; size, capital structure, business strategy, profitability and accounting practices.

In the case of SRL, the peers are selected based on the nature of business and traded volume considering the total assets of comparable Companies weights are applied to the multiples of the comparable companies to arrive at the weighted average multiples

b) Market Price Method

Under the Market Approach, Market Price Method has been adopted, wherein the traded price, market and volume of the stock are observed over a reasonable period while valuing assets which are traded in the Active Market. The pricing guideline of Regulation 164 of Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018 (SEBI ICDR) have been relied upon for valuing the equity share of SRL under the Market Price Method.

As per the Regulation 164 of the SEBI ICDR read with Regulation 161 the pricing guideline for Pricing of frequently traded shares are as follows:

If the equity shares of the issuer have been listed on a recognised stock exchange for a period of 90 trading days or more as on the relevant date, the price of the equity shares to be allotted pursuant to the preferential issue shall be not less than higher of the following:

- a) The 90 trading days' volume weighted average price of the related equity shares quoted on the recognised stock exchange preceding the relevant date; or
- b) The 10 trading days' volume weighted average prices of the related equity shares quoted on a recognised stock exchange preceding the relevant date

Since the equity shares of Speciality Restaurants Ltd is frequently traded in the recognised stock exchanges, market approach has been duly considered for the valuation of the equity shares of the Company.

For the purpose of this Chapter, "relevant date" as per Regulation 161 means

- a) in case of preferential issue of equity shares, the date thirty days prior to the date on which the meeting of shareholders is held to consider the proposed preferential issue:
- b) in case of a preferential issue of convertible securities, either the relevant date referred to in clause (a) of this regulation or a date thirty days prior to the date on which the holders of the convertible securities become entitled to apply for the equity shares.

Explanation: Where the relevant date falls on a weekend or a holiday, the day preceding the weekend or the holiday will be reckoned to be the relevant date
